KUNSTDOKUMENTATION WERNER KITTEL

Abteilung MÖBEL: Ebenisten – Register

Neben der Erfassung von Möbeln der Zeit vor 1880 nach dominierenden Dekoren (z.B. Elfenbein-Intarsien), Material (z. B. Möbel aus Silber, Stahl, oder Messing) und dem Grossbestand anonymer Möbel, die typologisch gegliedert sind, hat sich ein stets wachsender Bestand von namentlich erfassbaren „Ebenisten“ ergeben: also den Ebenisten der französischen Zünfte im engeren Sinn, aber auch der amerikanischen und englischen „cabinetmakers“ und der übrigen kontinentaleuropäischen Meister unter allen ihren Bezeichnungen vom Kistler bis zum Hofschreiner.

Die Dokumente werden als Loseblattsammlung in Taschen bewahrt. Großbestände zu einzelnen Künstlern wie zum Beispiel bei Abraham und David Roentgen, erfahren analog zur Strukturierung der freien Künstler eine chronologische Sammlung nach dem Erscheinen auf dem Markt oder in den Auktionen; Werke in Sammlungen und Museen sind diesen vorangestellt.

Ganz zu Beginn werden Aufsätze, Literatur und Biographisches zu den Betreffenden gesammelt. Sofern die Namen bekannt sind, werden meist die weiteren Beteiligten an Kunstwerken des Möbelbaus im allgemeinen Künstleralphabet erfasst (also: Mehrfacherfassung desselben Möbels): die Schnitzer, Vergolder, Entwerfer etc. Da besonders die bedeutenden französischen Möbel des 18. Jahrhunderts bis in die Gegenwart kopiert werden, finden sich Kopien solcher Möbel auch in der Abteilung Möbel: Typen, also Doppelablage, um einfacher das „Original“ wieder finden zu können. Künstlermöbel der Zeit nach 1880 finden sich meist – wie beim übrigen Kunsthandwerk im Künstleralphabet sowie – falls bekannt – in der Abteilung Firmen und Institutionen.

Department of Furniture: Register of Cabinetmakers

In addition to the subcategories of furniture prior to 1880 by dominating decoration (furniture with ivory intarsia for example), material

(furniture made of metal, silver or steel for example) and as residual subcategory: anonymous furniture according to typology, a continuously growing category of furniture has evolved that can be safely attributed to specific makers or that is signed (in the case of French ébénistes for example). In addition to the French ébénistes, English and American “cabinetmakers“ we record masters of continental Europe with all their specific designations: from Kistler (German: Kiste = box/crate) to Hofschreiner (court appointed cabinetmaker; these often freed from the guild constraints). The documents are collected in a loose-leaf-manner in standing envelopes. Important artists like Abraham and David Roentgen are structured as are regular artists: typologically and then in each category (for example commodes) chronologically according to appearance in the marketplace or at auction; works in museums and collections precede these; the beginning consists of essays, biographical material and literature on the particular artist. Usually, when names of other artists such as designers, carvers, gilders etc. are known, the document is copied and deposited accordingly (multiple deposit). Since copies of important French signed pieces are produced until the present day, many pieces have been additionally copied and deposited in the typology, decoration or material subcategories. Thus the “original“ can be more easily found.

Artistic furniture of the period post 1880 will be found in the general artists' alphabet, possibly with a second deposit in the Department of Firms and Institutions, when known.
